plastic Injection Molding for Outdoor Recreation

ABIS Plastics has been in the outdoor recreation business for few years. We have worked alongside an China manufacturer of paddling sports boats and accessories to provide them with custom plastic injection molded products designed to withstand the rigorous environment in which they thrive, and to complement the company' s brands.

Our engineering team and industrial designers developed a patented waterproof hatch system for our customer which we manufacture along with seat backs, pedals and other accessories. The company' s product line is successfully distributed and sold internationally. ABIS Plastics is happy to be a part of their growth.

Learning and adapting through 20years of experience in the design and manufacture of plastic injection molded products has secured us a solid position in the industry. We add that reputation to our strength through innovation in the outdoor recreation market to become the formidable partner for your projects.
